

2010 Young Educators Society Spring Conference
March 26, 2010
Call for Student Presentations

Dear YES Participant,

We hope you are as excited as we are about the upcoming 2010 Young Educators Society Spring Conference which is taking place at Saginaw Valley State University. This year's conference promises to be both innovative and productive as we seek to inspire our youth to continue their education beyond high school and become the educators of tomorrow.

In the spirit of promoting 'change' with our next generation of educators, we want to give them the opportunity to express themselves artistically regarding the importance of education and the impact that educators have had in their lives. We are accepting three-minute entries for poetry, dance, singing and/or rap presentations which will be performed during the YES.....LIVE! portion of the conference.

Guidelines for Performance Entries:

- There can be only one performing individual or team per school.
- Performances may not exceed 3 minutes
- Entries must be audio/video recorded for review and submitted to SVSU no later than Wednesday, March 10, 2010
- Entries can be submitted electronically yes@svsu.edu or by mail via the address listed below.
- Due to time constraints during the program, special consideration will be given to early submissions.
- Themes for performance must be related to (1) Yes We Can in 2010: A New Decade for Teaching, (2) The field of education.
- Entries will be performed live at the YES Conference.
- Each participant will be awarded a prize for their efforts.

We look forward to receiving entries from your talented students as we highlight the importance of education on the future of our world. If you have questions regarding " YES.....LIVE" please do not hesitate to contact

Sincerely,

B. Jean Jones
